

Pigment of the Month:
Rainforest

On sale for $15.00, regularly $25.00

Face Inks Rainforest heals as subtle as these first signs of Spring. I love it for bottom eyeliner on my clients that are afraid of black and I use it on top and bottom on my fairer clients.

If I want it a bit deeper, I add a few drops of Onyx. To create a more vivid green, add a few drops of Palm. For an even softer result, add Safari.

Subtle greens work so well on so many women. I am not a fan of browns and any time my client asks for brown I place Rainforest on one eye and brown on the other and hands-down, they will select Rainforest. It makes eye color dance where brown, especially a warm brown, will dull eye color and actually create a pinkish rim around the eyes making them appear tired or strained. I love brown eye shadows but not in or near the lash line.

Needles...

I like to create various effects on eyeliner, especially bottom eyeliner. I don't like to leave my client with a hard, solid bottom eyeliner so I will often use a 3-Liner for density at the lash line and then change to a 7 to widen the line. It heals beautifully and doesn't have a hard tattooed appearance but resembles more of a customized over-the-counter makeup look.

Another choice is the 3-Slope needle since it can create the line as well as the shading. If you haven't been trained to do the smudged effect on a Slope, you may want to wait until you take a class before you try it. If you don't lift quickly enough you can create a dark line at the edge of where the smudge should be fading off. It's just a bit tricky. The 3 and 7 combo works great and with no compromise.

Face Inks colors are very heavily concentrated with pigment particles for thickness, not glycerin, so it can safely be diluted with a drop of distilled water.
